Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on November 17, 1998.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, November 17, 1998.

If you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any ridiculous bids.

GOLD

- 1. GALLO-BELGIC CELTS; Gold Stater, Class F, 60-50 BC, 6.02g. Van Arsdell 85-1 (Imported Coinage) "Attributed to the Suessiones, but possibly Atrebatum". OBV: Abstracted head r. RX: Disjointed horse right. Rare. Broken reverse die. EF .....800
- 2. IONIA; 625 BC, 1/2 Stater, 7.22g. Second recorded. This typeless 1/2 stater with the striated obverse and complex configuration of the incuse is a single-step advance from lot #1 (H.J. Berk Ltd. B/B 100). It has a striated obverse and a planned, 3-part incuse. The 1/2 stater in our 99th sale was the discovery piece. This is a second example from an old collection which appeared last year in a Bank Leu sale where we purchased it. EF .....8500

- 18. DIVA FAUSTINA I; Died 141 AD, Aureus, Rome, 6.78g. BM 395-397, C-95 (40Fr). RX: AVGVSTA Ceres standing left holding torch and scepter. Bold Fine .....875
- 19. SEPTIMIUS SEVERUS and CARACALLA; Aureus, Rome, 204 AD, 7.21g. BM 265-266, C-8 (250 Fr). OBV: IMP PII AVGG jugate busts of the two emperors right RX: [V]ICTORIA PARTHICA MAXIMA Victory advancing left. Found in India. Apparently an ancient cast based on a specimen that had two larger holes, the outlines in which are visible in reverse exergue. This is the only coin of Severus' reign on which he and Caracalla appear together on the reverse and in connection with their Parthian victory of 198 which is commemorated on the reverse, assume the title "INVICTI", "UNCONQUERED". Pierced and in poor condition but interesting .....575
- SEVERUS ALEXANDER ( 222-235 AD)

Finder's scratches to right of Christ on obverse. This issue has recently been recognized because of its repunched legend as coinage from the beginning of the reign of Romanus II. The Christ portrait on the obverse is almost the same dies but certainly the engraver at work that produced the excessively rare portraits of Romanus II alone. This gives people a first time opportunity to obtain an issue of Romanus II which was heretofore not collectible. Since their discovery about 10 of these coins have come to light and they have very quickly been absorbed into collections. Other than the finder's mark, Mint State .....2500

OBV: Three hoplites in galley left; galley has horse's head at prow, griffin's head at stern; below, hippocamp left, RX: Vulture with spread wings standing left on back of recumbent lamb incuse with head turned back. In our culture the vulture means death. In the ancient Phoenician culture and the Egyptian culture from which the Phoenicians borrowed this unique type, comes the real meaning of this exquisite and rare coin: the vulture is the symbol of the Goddess Nekhbet and is a symbol of protection and power. The short horned ram with horns close to the head represents the god Amon Re, a symbol of Power and Military Strength (beginning in the 18th Dynasty). Taken in combination, this coin type means protection, power twice or double power and military strength and that is reinforced by the obverse which shows three hoplites totally armed in a war galley going into battle with one of the denizens of the sea. Of this coin and the next lot there are less than 20 coins in existence and in this offering you are seeing two of the three best. VF .....24000

RX-IOVI CONSER *S Emperor standing right receiving globe from Jupiter standing left. Bust variant of RIC-225 and Göbl-199. Unattested heroic bust type for Aurelian at Siscia. This bust type had previously been recorded only at the "Unknown Mint": see Göbl-275f, 278f and 282 Ah, where the shouldered spear, however, has no point. The closest bust type previously known at Siscia shows the emperor as Mercury holding a caduceus not a spear over his shoulder (Göbl-184k). The other known bust types of Aurelian shouldering a spear show him wearing a cuirass with or without cloak. (e.g. Göbl-184i and 270e), not heroically nude as on our coin. VF .....600

455. AURELIAN; 270-275 AD, Billon Denarius, struck from Aureus dies, Cyzicus, 2.79g. OBV-AVRELIANVS AVG Bust laureate cuirassed right. RX-RESTITVTOR ORIENTIS Emperor on horse leaping right about to spear enemy who cowers below horse's forelegs; another enemy below horse has just been speared in chest and throws out arms in agony. Unpublished as denarius; from the same dies as a unique Aureus in Leningrad, Göbl, Aurelianus pl 138, 365. Aurelian deserved the title of "Restitutor Orientis",

	"Restorer of the East", for in 272-273 AD he crushed Zenobia's and Vabalathus' Palmyrene kingdom which had gained control of the Roman provinces of Syria and Egypt. Although Göbl assigned the Leningrad aureus and hence our denarius to Antioch, M. R. Weder points out that it is from the same obverse die as Göbl pl 75, 129A, assigned to Rome, and Weder attributes both coins to Cyzicus (NUM. CHRON. 1994, 246). Unique and of great historical and typological interest. Abt. EF .....6000

According to the Egyptian papyri, Vabalathus' brief revolt against Aurelian began sometime after April 17, 272, and had already been suppressed by June 24, 272: see M. Price in Num. Chron. 1973. RX-View of Acropolis from northwest showing from right to left stairway leading to entrance gate (Propylaea), huge bronze statue of Athena standing (sculptured by Phidias), and temple (Erechtheum); to left of stairway, cave of Apollo. Price and Trell, Coins & their Cities, p 77, identify the temple in this type as the Erechtheum not the larger and more famous Parthenon, since on some dies its side wall is clearly shown as being of solid masonry without columns. The Erechtheum has such side walls, as opposed to the Parthenon which has columns on all sides. In support of Price and Trell's view, note also that the Erechtheum is situated by the northern rim of the Acropolis with its façade looking north and its western side wall facing the Propylaea, exactly like the temple on the coin. The Parthenon, in contrast, is built along the southern rim of the Acropolis and its main façade faces west towards the Propylaea. It would not be seen by an Athenian looking up at the Acropolis from the north and therefore should not really appear in this numismatic view from the northwest. And if it had nonetheless been depicted, then surely to accord with reality its main façade rather than its side wall would have been shown facing the Propylaea. The architecture, location, and axis of the temple in the coin type thus all identify it as the Erechtheum not the Parthenon. See the recent aerial photograph of the Acropolis from the northwest in Price and Trell, p. 75. – The Parthenon does appear, quite correctly, in the coin type

RX-View of Acropolis from the northwest, showing from right to left stairway leading to entrance gate (Propylaea), huge bronze statue of Athena standing (sculptured by Pheidias) and temple (Erechtheum); to left of stairway, cave of Apollo. According to Price and Trell, p 77, the entrance gateway in this variant of the Acropolis type is "set so far below the lip of the hill that it must be the gateway of the Roman period – the Beulé gate – intentionally omitting . . . the more impressive early Greek Propylaea which is situated higher up the hill." It seems more likely, however, that the gate in fact represents the Greek Propylaea, merely enlarged and therefore somewhat displaced in order to emphasize its importance. Fine.....1700

The engravers under Gallienus correctly copied the Hadrianic-Antonine view of the Acropolis on a number of dies (Sv pl 98, 30-36), but on this die they have mistakenly reversed it. Other changes are that the Propylaea has four rather than only two columns; that the masonry of the side wall of the Erechtheum is clearly rendered; and that two rather than only one cave or grotto are shown in the cliff below the Acropolis. ....1400

Our reverse dies might also have been engraved for Faustina I during her lifetime (BM pl. 24,8) or for Faustina II under Marcus Aurelius (BM pl. 74,5), but the stylistic match with these coins seems less close. Cf. BMC 3, pp.cvi-cvii: "The curious pieces with two obverse or two reverse types combined begin to occur not infrequently in this reign (Trajan) - the two reverses definitely less often than the two obverses. They have not yet been explained. They seem to be not absolutely accidental, but something in the nature of trial pieces or presentation pieces at the mint." Such coins are always asses and those combining two reverse types are extremely rare, the British Museum possessing only five examples: 2 of Trajan (nos.1077 A-B, pl.44,3), and 1 each of Hadrian (no. 1841 B), Faustina II under Marcus Aurelius (no. 1005), and Commodus (no.727, pl.111,8). Coins with two obverse types have not infrequently been manufactured by modern forgers, but our specimen with two reverses is finely preserved, evenly patinated, and unquestionably ancient and authentic VF .....1500

842. Abstract Idol (Kusura-Beycesultan variety) Anatolian White Marble, Bronze Age II or III, 2700-2000 B.C. Interesting abstraction of the human figure. Carved from a flat section of soft creamy white marble. Possibly a representation of a fertility goddess. H. 1 1/2".....1350
843. Another. H. 1 1/8".....00
844. Another. H. 1 1/8".....800

Ceramics

845. Italo-Corinthian Kothon, Early 6th cent. B.C. Features a low foot, and a ring handle, polychrome, geometric detail. D. 7 1/4".....800
846. Italo-Corinthian Kothon, Early 6th cent. B.C. As above yet slightly smaller. D. 5 5/16".....500
847. Etruscan Black-Figure Kantharos, 6th cent. B.C. By the Michali painter, a master of the Archaic style. This kantharos with a single, tall, erect handle. The body features two sphinxes proceeding from opposite sides toward a siren (human-headed bird). The handle depicts a standing male wearing an ornate tunic. He drinks from a rhyton (drinking horn). The top of the handle is embellished with an elegant dolphin motif on each side. H. 14 5/8".....2500
848. Italo-Corinthian Aryballos, c. Late 6th to Mid 5th cent. B.C. Pale terracotta and larger than most aryballoi. Quite rare. It features a series of sepia colored bands which are wide around the center body. They become narrower and are more concentrated on the shoulder. Intact with slight incrustation. H. 4 13/16".....650
849. Italo-Corinthian Vessel, c. Late 6th to Mid 5th cent. B.C. Pale terracotta. Large Egg-shaped body with small neck, Possibly an imitation of an ostrich egg. Somewhat similar to certain types of lebetes; jars used for water and associated with cleansing. This item decorated with a series of soft red-oxide colored bands which span the round of the shoulder and terminate at the neck. The body is also scored with a series of very subtle, incised lines, tightly wound on the horizontal. H. 7 1/2".....850
850. Etruscan Black-Figure Hydria, c. 5th cent. B.C. This hydria is glazed in black, save the vine patterned shoulder, and the upper body, which features a very well executed central motif of a running satyr in the black figure technique. His tail, hair, and beard are thinly added in red paint while the anatomical detail and contours are indicated with fine incision. The figure is flanked within an elaborate border of repeated upright curvilinear pendants that extend toward the two side-handles. The handle extremes marked with black, and below each is one small swastika. H. 10 1/2".....2500
851. Native Sicilian Column Krater, 5th cent. B.C. Buff clay with black and red decoration. On each side are three birds separated by a floral design. H. 6 3/8".....950
852. Attic Black-Figure Band Cup, c. 550-520 B.C. Apart from the elegant, broad shape of this vessel, the painting style is highly sophisticated. Notable are the regular and compact proportion of the figures in addition to the constant precision of line. The scene of the seated sphinx conversing with four standing males is repeated on both sides. Palmette motifs appear before the handles. D. 11 1/2".....9500
853. Campanian Black Ware Bowl, c. 4th cent. B.C. Features elaborate stamped decoration in the tondo. At center, a charming and well rendered face of a gorgon that is framed within in a round border of palmettes. A dynamic meander patterned border follows. The upper walls rouletted. Nice metallic black glaze. A slightly discolored area at center due to a misfiring. Intact. D. 6 3/4".....900
854. Calene Juglet of Unusual Shape, c. 4th cent. B.C. Lovely smooth black glaze. A charming and rare piece. Intact. H. 2 3/4".....450
855. Clazomene Greek-Footed Platter, c. 4th cent. B.C. Pale terracotta surface decorated in red-oxide hue. The tondo with a captivating stellar-like

- geometric design, while the outer body displays a series of graduated bands continued down to the foot. Base rejoined. H. 3 1/4".....1850
856. Daunian High handled Cup. c. 4th cent. B.C. Decorated with an elaborate geometric design in red and black. One large fragment broken and reglued. H. 5 3/4".....550
857. Campanian Bail Amphora, 4th cent. B.C. On either side a draped male figure, separated by large palmettes. Broken and repaired at top, otherwise intact. H. 15".....1250
858. Eastern Greek Alabastron, c. 4th cent. B.C. Classic shape with two small lug-handles. Pale terracotta painted in red oxide wash with a series of deeper red colored bands decorating the body. L. 5 3/4".....1800
859. Black Ware Kylix, Magna Graecia, c. 4th to 3rd cent. B.C. Nicely shaped with wide flaring handle. Glossy glaze. One minor repair to lip. W. 7".....400
860. Roman Red Ware Jug, c. 4th to 5th cent. A.D. Depicts a rabbit and goat leaping between three Corinthian columns. The motifs appliqué in relief. The vessel's color enhanced with a vibrant orange-red slip. Intact. H. 5 5/8".....2100
861. Large Roman Red Ware Dish, c. 4th to 5th cent. A.D. The bowl of this dish shallow and round with no foot. The rim thin and flat. Intact. Minimal incrustations. D. 7 3/4".....700
862. Roman Red Ware Bowl, c. 4th to 5th cent. A.D. Vibrant red ware, elegant, and smoothly shaped. The bowl is shallow with a broad, flat rim. The base marked with a thin flat foot. Intact. D. 6 1/8".....600
863. Roman Red Ware Bowl, c. 4th to 5th cent. A.D. Very nice smooth shape. The bowl shallow with a broad, flat rim the base marked with a thin, flat foot. Most of the original red slip remaining. Intact. Some incrustation. D. 5 11/16".....500

Terracotta

864. Aryballos Depicting a Squatting Satyr, Ionia, 6th cent. B.C. Orange color terracotta. Called an aryballos due to the small narrow neck, but the body unusually fashioned. Comical, spritely features, a thoughtful expression on his face. The nude satyr squats with hands grasping his belly which hangs between his chunky hooved legs. The reverse renders his well contoured back and long hair. H. 4 1/2".....3500
865. Plastic Figure of a Boar, c. 6th to 4th cent. B.C. Magna Graecia, possibly Campanian. Truly fine and accurate modeling from a two-part mold, a fine seam spans center length. The head missing due to an ancient break. Some original white slip remaining with moderate amounts of incrustation. L. 4".....500
866. Silenus as a Philosopher, c. 3rd cent. B.C., Magna Graecia. Buff color terracotta clay statuette. Well articulated face and beard. He is cloaked in a long himation. Well modeled and excellent detail. H. 7".....1200
867. Terracotta Winged Eros, c. 340-200 B.C. Magna Graecia. The figure rendered in a relaxed stance and is supported by a low plinth. He is dressed in a chiton. In his left arm a theater mask. Some restoration to lower body. Buff terracotta with considerable amounts of original dark sepia colored paint remaining. Some incrustation. H. 4 7/8".....1800
868. Byzantine Oil Lamp, 6th cent. A.D. Round, flat shape with small handle. Two rows of Greek inscription follow the discus round. Beneath the foot an intricate geometric motif. D. 2 13/16".....1100

Marble

869. Roman Marble Eros, Late 2nd cent. A.D. This Eros depicted as a boy. It was only after the time of Alexander the Great that representations of Eros as a child became prevalent. The Romans applied the name Cupido, or Amor, and regarded him as the sensual god of love, sport, and trickery. Gracefully sculpted; his classic features appropriately soft, plump, and angelic. The boy stands bearing his weight on his right leg, his left hip tilted slightly upward. While his hair is tied in a distinctive "Eros knot", a spread of thick, long, and unruly locks fall over his shoulders. His solemn gaze fixed downward to the right. Legs, arms, and nose are missing. Rejoined at the waist. H. 27 1/2".....25000

Weapons

870. Bronze Cast Pick-Axe, c. Late 3rd Millennium B.C. Features a long square sectioned point. Three conoid butt spikes on the opposite end. Olive green patina. L. 8 1/8".....950
871. Bronze Cast "Anchor" Axe Head, c. 18th to 17th cent. B.C. Persian, possibly from Gilan. Blackish-green patina. H. 4 1/2".....700
872. Large Bronze Cast Epsilon Axe Head, Luristan, c. Late 3rd Millennium B.C. The three rear projections pierced for rivets. Intact. Green and brown patina. L. 10 3/4".....900
873. Bronze Cast Spear Head, c. 1200-800 B.C. Luristan. The blade long, narrow, with broad, flat midrib. The blade edges slightly concave above the shoulders then straighten and taper to a point. H. 11 1/2".....900
874. Bronze Cast Spear Head, c. 1200-800 B.C., Luristan. Sharp and very exacting dimensions. Features a notched tang. The blade with square shoulders, the edges straight and then taper sharply to a point. The midrib is pronounced, thin and tapered. H. 8 3/4".....750
875. Bronze Cast Ovate Spear Head, c. 1200-800 B.C., Western Persia. Nicely shaped with a flattened midrib which merges directly into the tang. L. 3 11/16".....450

Metallic Objects

- Rare and Spectacular Urartu Bronze Belt Fragments, c. 8th cent. B.C. (Armenia). Bronze sheet with repousse and sharply incised elaborate hunt scenes. Among the primary motifs are intricate representations of animals and supernatural beasts. Some are framed within elaborate lattices resembling the tree of life, and some between stippled borders or stamped rosettes and palmettes. Mounted.

890.	Roman Bronze Sandaled Leg, c. 1st to 2nd cent. A.D. Hollow cast, as portion of some other decorative object. Nicely modeled with refined detail and relatively smooth surfaces. The patina black with some incrustation. L. 3 3/8" .....	700
891.	Roman Bronze Cup, c.1st to 2nd cent. B.C. Deep bell-shaped bowl with a thin, decoratively ribbed rim. Lovely blue and green patina. The two original opposing handles missing. Foot rejoined. D. 5 1/8" .....	400
892.	Roman Bronze Head of a Male, c. 1st to 3rd cent. A.D. Possibly the remaining portion of a handle. The face nicely shaped with well articulated classic features and fine detail throughout. H. 5/8", W. 5/8" .....	500

An Important Hebrew Seal

893.	This seal is interesting, not just as a Hebrew seal, but also numismatically speaking as it has been translated as ÔEphraim son of Jesse (,) minter 214". There is concrete evidence that Jews were employed as mint masters throughout Europe and particularly in Spain and Portugal until the expulsion. (see Jewish Minters & Medalists by Daniel M. Friedenberg.) This is a good and rare example of a Hebrew seal from 15th century Spain, as indicated by the modeling. Cast in bronze, round and flat-faced with olive-green patina, a fleur-de-lis motif is carved in at center, and the remaining detail most likely depicts the elements of a proper crest, Hebrew inscription surrounding. A suspension loop on the back. The seal inscription (counter-clockwise, from top center) trans-literates as ÔEf-ra-im bi-yi-shy te-bo-a 214", and translates as ÔEphraim son of Jesse minter 214". Ephraim, son of Jesse, is a very plausible name considering Ephraim was the name of one of the Twelve Tribes of Israel, and Jesse was the name of King David's father. So too, it is safe to assume that the word 'minter' has to do with the production of coinage. The number '214' may not have any significance unless one understands how Hebrew years are ciphered and written. Hebrew numbers are written by the numeric equivalents of the letters. The Ôthousands place" is almost always left off, so the year Ô5214" would be written Ô214" The Hebrew calendar precedes the Gregorian calendar by 3760 years, thus 5214 minus 3760 would give us the year 1454. D. 1 1/8" .....	12500

Mosaics

900.	Roman Mosaic Portrait of the Head of Medusa, c. 3rd to 4th cent. A.D., This classic grotesque female phantom is brilliantly portrayed in stark colors at full face with highly defined features. Medusa was once a beautiful maiden who compared her beauty to that of Athena. The goddess, enraged, changed her into a monster with a head of hissing snakes for hair. Medusa is shown in this mosaic with a wild crown of black hair in which there are eight yellow, hissing serpents. A small set of wings project from her forehead. Her flushed face is round and heavy, lips prim and tight. Her eyes are accommodatngly over-sized and deeply shadowed. According to myth she would petrify anyone who gazed into them. Two serpent tails wrap around and interlock at her neck. These are the identifying marks of the supreme and most heinous of the gorgons. The circular background is off-white and has a brick-red and black geometric border. Composed from
